Brief Statements and Analysis

1. Describe your institution's greatest challenge. What is your role and ability to influence policy and affect change in tackling this challenge strategically? Discuss some actions you have already taken. Your answer to this question will be the basis for a "focused project" you will be working on throughout your tenure at GLI. It is important that you accurately define a problem that you can have a significant role in solving. (200-400 words)

2. If you were invited to give a TED Talk for the museum field, what would you choose to speak about? You may want to consider presenting a big idea around a need or issue facing museums such as innovation, sustainability, digital strategy—or some other topic related to your own museum leadership experience. (200-400 words)

3. Describe your expectations for the GLI 2018 program and the impact your participation in the program will have for you and your institution. (200 words)

4. Describe what your participation would contribute to the GLI 2018 experience for others in the program. (200 words)

5. THINK PIECE: Watch the TED talk, Don't Ask Where I'm from, Ask Where I'm a Local by Taiye Selasi (<https://youtu.be/LYCKzpXEW6E>). Discuss the relevance of Selasi's concepts as they pertain to museum audiences, local/global museum contexts, or diversity and inclusion initiatives. Be specific in considering how the concepts relate to your own museum leadership and your institution or department. (200-400 words)

There are limited funds for scholarships- GLI reserves the right to negotiate the final amount with recipients.

TRAVEL WILL NOT BE COVERED BY GLI SCHOLARSHIPS.

If the balance on line 4 is less than $8,000 in the Financial Information section above, you may request a reduced program fee.

In the space below, explain the unique circumstances that limit your personal and/or your institution's contribution to the cost of the GLI 2018 Program. Elaborate on efforts you have made to garner financial support from outside sources.
